The American Worker Film Project

A film ABOUT the American worker, made BY the American worker!

The American Worker Film Project is a non-profit, group sourced film dedicated to honoring the American worker's crucial role in a robust and prosperous economy. This is a film about the American worker, made for the American worker and by the American Worker! Images gathered from the contest will be used to help tell the story of you, the American worker and your importance to the economy and our country. It is a film about unity, pride and hope. This is an unprecedented, national collaborative film underscoring the power of what we can achieve by working together. It is a professionally produced, broadcast quality film made possible only by your participation.

We will paint a portrait of the American worker from all walks of life, from all regions of the country, utilizing images of working Americans submitted by other Americans just like you.
